Do Rae Mi Press

Online News from the Lisa Rae Music Studios, LLC

Welcome to the inaugural edition of the Do Rae Mi Press Online Newsletter!

As our studio continues to grow in size and scope, we find the need to bring our community of staff students, and supporters closer together.

I personally invite you to email me productive comments about the Do Rae Mi Press. And be sure to email your good music news and photos to share with our readers!

Sincerely,

Lisa Rae Vaughan, Executive Director

VOCAL, INSTRUMENTAL GROUP CLASSES

TELL US WHAT YOU THINK!

During the Spring Session 2008, the Lisa Rae Music Studios, LLC plans to offer 2 new classes: group vocal and group instrumental. Since you, our students are the ones for whom we are designing the classes, it's important to get your input.

Generally, the classes would:

- Meet bi-weekly (i.e. once every two weeks) starting in JAN 2008
- Run for the entire session (approx. 8 classes per session)
- Meet at one of our Robinson Township studios
- Be limited to 4 - 8 students per class

- Grouped according to experience, level, and / or age
- Be priced in the range of $ 75 - $100 per student per session

Each group would learn 4-5 songs e.g. one holiday, one "pop", one

Pride in Performance

KUDOS to Piano Student and Compos Brandon Lowden whose "infectious and exhilarating" march tune "Woodrow Wilson" captured the attention of the Talkin' Broadway reviewers.

Brandon composed the songs and wrote the lyrics to several pieces performed in the musical "A Turnpike Runs Through A NewJersical". The local Lowden clarinetist attended the show's debut as performed by the Princeton University Triangle Club.

ballad / slow song, one jazz, one classical. Books & materials would be billed extra.

Group classes would not replace lessons, so each student participant would need to also be taking private lessons (even just the min. of 3 hours per session) for the entire session.

Student ensembles would perform one or two songs at a performance during each session.
